CONDITIONS OF SALE

1. Any bid which is merely a nominal or fractional advance may be rejected by the auctioneer, if, in his judgment, such bid would be likely to affect the sale injuriously.

2. The highest bidder shall be the buyer, and if any dispute arise between two or more bidders, the auctioneer shall either decide the same or put up for re-sale the lot so in dispute.

3. Payment shall be made of all or such part of the purchase money as may be required, and the names and addresses of the purchasers shall be given immediately on the sale of every lot, in default of which the lot so purchased shall be immediately put up again and re-sold.

Payment of that part of the purchase money not made at the time of sale shall be made within ten days thereafter, in default of which the undersigned may either continue to hold the lots at the risk of the purchaser and take such action as may be necessary for the enforcement of the sale, or may at public or private sale, and without other than this notice, re-sell the lots for the benefit of such purchaser, and the deficiency (if any) arising from such re-sale shall be a charge against such purchaser.

4. Delivery of any purchase will be made only upon payment of the total amount due for all purchases at the sale.

Deliveries will be made on sales days between the hours of 9 A. M. and 1 P. M., and on other days—except holidays—between the hours of 9 A. M. and 5 P. M.

Delivery of any purchase will be made only at the American Art Galleries, or other place of sale, as the case may be, and only on presenting the bill of purchase.

Delivery may be made, at the discretion of the Association, of any purchase during the session of the sale at which it was sold.

2C 3/6/17-

5. Shipping, boxing or wrapping of purchases is a business in which the Association is in no wise engaged, and will not be performed by the Association for purchasers. The Association will, however, afford to purchasers every facility for employing at current and reasonable rates carriers and packers; doing so, however, without any assumption of responsibility on its part for the acts and charges of the parties engaged for such service.

6. Storage of any purchase shall be at the sole risk of the purchaser. Title passes upon the fall of the auctioneer's hammer, and thereafter, while the Association will exercise due caution in caring for and delivering such purchase, it will not hold itself responsible if such purchase be lost, stolen, damaged or destroyed.

Storage charges will be made upon all purchases not removed within ten days from the date of the sale thereof.

7. Guarantee is not made either by the owner or the Association of the correctness of the description, genuineness or authenticity of any lot, and no sale will be set aside on account of any incorrectness, error of cataloguing, or any imperfection not noted. Every lot is on public exhibition one or more days prior to its sale, after which it is sold "as is" and without recourse.

The Association exercises great care to catalogue every lot correctly, and will give consideration to the opinion of any trustworthy expert to the effect that any lot has been incorrectly catalogued, and, in its judgment, may either sell the lot as catalogued or make mention of the opinion of such expert, who thereby would become responsible for such damage as might result were his opinion without proper foundation.

BRUSSELS VERDURE TAPESTRY

775"—

Martin Vogel

A landscape verdure of unusual merit and fine texture woven in Brussels at the beginning of the eighteenth century. The blues and blue-greens are of distinguished excellence, and have their full value when the tapestry is hung with the narrow border turned under. The high lights of the foreground in soft golden yellows are especially cheerful against the more somber blues and greens of foliage and water. This cheerfulness is admirably supplemented by the open-air effects of the sky and clouds and receding ranges of mountains. Further interest is introduced by the cottage with its tiny chimney perched upon an Alpine roof; bright colors, by a parrot perched high on the left, the blossoms in the middle foreground, and by the cock and hen on the right. Time has treated this tapestry gently, and it is one of those that could be paneled in a wooden molding to advantage.

Height, 8 feet 4 inches; width, 10 feet 2 inches.

1250 " FLEMISH TAPESTRY m L. Jellinek

A Flemish Renaissance tapestry woven at the beginning of the seventeenth century. The reds are those characteristic of Enghien, and have lost most of their original harshness. The border is of the wide compartment type, with the allegorical and symbolic figures introduced by Raphael and Giulio Romano in the first half of the sixteenth century, and modified in Flanders by the introduction of Flemish fruit-and-flower motifs. The personage in the middle of the side border is King David playing the harp. In the middle of the top and bottom borders are two fair musicians playing guitars. The central scene of the tapestry shows an elk with portentous antlers, in deadly combat with two bears whose cubs on the right are just intruding into the field of vision. In the left foreground is a bear clambering hungrily towards three rabbits. In the right middle ground, three dogs, and four men with two-pronged spears, hold at bay a snarling bear. In the background, wooded mountains, and castle with garden.

Height, 10 feet 6 inches; width, 10 feet.

SET OF FOUR AUBUSSON TAPESTRIES

The following four tapestries were woven at Aubusson in the reign of Louis XIV, and picture scenes from the story of the Trojan War as told in the mediæval "Roman de Troie" of Benoit de Saint-More. Most of the reds, that once were over-strong, have been toned by the sunlight of two centuries to golden browns that combine with the silk high-lights to produce an effect of high relief and bold contrast against the somber foliage. The floral borders, with large leaves and blossoms springing from lion vases in the lower corners, and surmounted with plumed crowns in the upper corners, are typical of the place and period, as are the light and dark inner guard stripes, which in most Flemish tapestries of the seventeenth century would have changed places on the right and below, in order to show the light source as above and on the left. The costumes are based on those of ancient Rome, and all of the warriors have their legs bare and their feet shod in sandals in the ancient Roman fashion.

AUBUSSON TAPESTRY

Eng. Litzauer

This tapestry shows a triumphant but beardless warrior, with plumed helmet, oval shield, and long pennant flying at the end of his lance, welcomed by three fair musicians, one with a pair of kettledrums, one with a harp, and one with a horn, while the ends of two trumpets in the upper left corner of the tapestry announce the approach of other musicians.

825-1- LOUIS XIV AUBUSSON TAPESTRY

Eng Littauer

In this tapestry a queen, with two ladies-in-waiting, one of whom bears her train while the other holds a regal parasol over her head, welcomes warmly a mustached warrior who holds her left hand in his right. Their conversation is earnest, and the queen points her words with uplifted forefinger. All three ladies are richly attired and have pear-shaped jewels pendent from their ears. The queen wears also jeweled bracelets and a double necklace. In the background, on the right, a warrior and his bearded companion are grasping somewhat rudely two ladies, whom the pedestaled statue of a god at the left is impotent to assist.

800 " LOUIS XIV AUBUSSON TAPESTRY
Eng. Litterer

In this tapestry appear the king and queen of heaven itself, Jupiter and Juno, his identity marked by the symbolic eagle and thunderbolts, hers by the peacock. He is bearded and has an air of sublime grandeur, but she bears the scepter and is giving instructions to the courtier before them, emphasizing her remarks with warning gesture of her right hand, while Jupiter tempers her forcefulness with a gesture of his left hand.

Height, 9 feet 11 inches; width, 8 feet.

LOUIS XIV AUBUSSON TAPESTRY

825-

Eng Littner

In this tapestry a kneeling lady, with veil that floats out far behind her, resembling in size and pattern the pennant of tapestry No. 1325, presents her petition humbly to the king, who, with two attendant warriors, stands before his tent, that is rich with seventeenth century ornament.

Height, 9 feet 7 inches; width, 11 feet.
